

Fleeting Flutters

From dalliance come strides for dawn when glide through glade ensues,
To dulcet bid, with spurs aligned, where breath enlivens hues,
As blend of bloom and blaze foretells a wave within a blink;
When fervent flutters forge to stillness kept at haven's brink.

For primal pry, a plaited plain allows a wantless way,
To draw adroit respere where vital fortlet hinders fray.
While coup enkindles willowy flame by lanes as lain, afore maternal martyrdom as douse of dance and plunge to pore.

Amidst a strip of splintered gems, a ponderous egress to tune of ceaseless yearning veiled; from tip an arced caress,
With mould from moult on wilted spine, as ardent veins await careen from cavities and chrysalis 'pon stature sate.

For slumber swell of dainty dwell, in trust a tuft beteems a silken thread's espouse of pulse as harbinger of dreams:
To perch with sprightly reach anew, to seek celestial trace;
To lift on weightless breeze and scintillate with nimble grace.

When ardour seeps from lucid sheath, a timid wander sits,
Till zeal bestows a daedal span to stir the stems with flits.
A flash when scanty morns decree: felicity eludes,
With cyclic acts by roots of old as interval concludes.